In November election

Richardson will run again for sheriff's office

James Eugene (Gene) Richardson, Sheriff of Appomattox County, announced this week that he is a candidate for reelection to the office of sheriff in the general election to be held in November.

After being employed with the Appomattox Sheriff's Department as a deputy under former Sheriff L.L. Stanley for seven years, he was appointed in July 1971, to serve out the unexpired term of Sheriff Stanley. He was then elected to the office of sheriff in November, 1971, taking office in January, 1972. Richardson was reelected to his second term as sheriff in November, 1975 and his third term in November, 1979.

During his years as Sheriff, Richardson has completed many classes in law enforcement procedures pertaining to narcotics, drug use and abuse, criminal investigations and civil work. He has completed many seminars and courses on working with alcoholics and drug abusers, first aid to the injured and other pertinent subjects.

Sheriff Richardson has attended the yearly Sheriff's Management Seminars for Virginia sheriffs on jail management. He completed a course with the United States Army Military Police School, Ft. Gordon, Georgia on civil disturbances; completed a course in Orlando, Florida, held by the International Association of Chiefs of Police on police intelligence; and completed an Officers Tear Gas Seminar with the Federal Laboratories, Inc. in Pennsylvania.

Richardson has served on the committee of the Virginia State Crime Commission in studying compensation for law enforcement officers in Virginia, the ABC Commission, and has recently organized the Appomattox County branch of the National Neighborhood Watch Program.

He received the local Outstanding Young Police Officers Award in 1970, and was awarded the Commendable Service Award by the Woodmen of the World in 1969.

Richardson is a member of the National Sheriff's Association, and the Virginia State Sheriff's Association, where he has served as Treasurer and is presently serving as Sgt. of Arms. He also serves as a member of the Central Virginia Training Academy Board of Directors, the Regional Investigative Squad Advisory Committee, and the Regional Association of Chiefs and Sheriffs.

He attended Pamplin Elementary School and Appomattox High School. He is a member of Piney Ridge United Methodist Church, where he serves as lay leader; the Woodmen of the World; the Moose Lodge; and has lived in Appomattox County all his life. He is 43 years old, married to the former Carolyn Frazier, and has five children, Kerry, Angie, Norma, Patricia and Patrick.

Sheriff Gene Richardson

Sheriff Richardson states he would "appreciate your support, if you see fit, in the November election." He adds that he will continue his efforts "to maintain good law enforcement in the County and will strive to cooperate with the citizens in handling their complaints and investigating crimes committed in this county."

Webb appointed to town council

By FRANCES PAULETTE

The Appomattox Town Council Monday appointed Martin L. Webb, retired Appomattox businessman, to fill the council-seat vacancy created by the resignation of Walter (Buddy) Carson.

Carson, who has served as council member for the past three years submitted his resignation in order to accept the position of Magistrate for the 10th Judical District.

"I want the people of Appomattox to know how much I appreciate their support during the time I have served as council member. I deeply regret that my acceptance of the position of magistrate created a conflict of interest resulting in the necessity of my resignation. I thoroughly enjoyed my work as council member," said Carson.

Webb, who began Webb's Tire Co. in 1948 following his return from a tour of duty with the armed forces, retired from active service with the company in September of 1982 when his only son Doug took over the reins of the business.

In accepting the appointment, Webb will serve through June 30, 1984. He is a former council member, having served two terms some years earlier.

Several names were given serious consideration before the appointment of Webb to fill the position.

In other business council members approved conditional use permit for the apartment house on Sunnydale Avenue to convert apartments to townhouses. Although action by council is not required for the apartment complex on Lombardy Street, it will also be reviewed. The complexes are owned by Bennett T. Matthews.

In advertising contest

Paper wins awards

The Times-Virginian newspaper received three awards for advertising excellence in the Virginia Press Association's 1983 advertising contest, which culminated at the 1983 Old Dominion Advertising Conference April 29 and 30 at the Marriott in Tyson's Corner.

The paper received a first- and second-place award for special sections produced during the past year, and Advertising Manager Allen Austin received a second-place award for an ad he prepared for Wilbun's Supermarket last fall.

The Times-Virginian competed with other weekly newspapers across Virginia approximately the same size. Thd judges awarded Appomattox COunty's paper a first-place prize in the color special section category for the "1982 Virginia Farm Management Tour" tabloid supplement which was published last July.

The paper received a second-place award in the black-and-white special section category for the 1982 version of the "Appomattox COunty Pride and Heritage" issue, which was published last April. The paper recently produced a second "Pride and Heritage" section featuring stories about successful businesses in and around Appomattox County.

Austin's award was in the contest's food-and-drug category. The ad which was picked for the award was one featuring a variety of foods available at Wilbun's Supermarket, which was published in last fall's Christmas Recipe Guide. The advertisement also appeared in the regular broadsheet portion of the Times-Virginian.

Father Darkleaf

By CALVIN ROBINSON

Greetings, on a cool Monday morning in May. No positive answer as to whether I will maintain my record as the area's poorest gardner. Two patio tomato plants are doing well. But no figs this year, the plant died. Crepe Myrtle is in bud and I am pleased with the five I have. Planted a dozen glad bulbs and started on second package of sunflower seed. A friend was over on Virginia's Eastern Shore over the weekend and tells me strawberries are about a thing of the past over thatta way and the potato outlook is only fair. Locally, if hard work and constant attention makes for success. Bro. Curtis Mitchell may come up with the best garden in town. Work with tiller, work with hoe; going to get in one more row.

One thing our nation could use ... a rainbow in the sky.

I made mention recently that often one comes upon an interesting and valuable old paper in an attic, closet or trunk. So ... Mrs. C. V. Wingfield, of Pamplin, brings me a couple of such papers, that had been saved by the late Mary Williams Caldwell, Pamplin. Copy 1 was of The Daily Advance of May 8, 1945. End of WW II in Europe. VE Day. Quote: "It was President Truman's 61st birthday, his first in the White House," and he proclaimed it as "a solemn but a glorious hour." "He set aside Sunday, May 13, Mother's Day, as a Day of Prayer."

The other old newspaper given me by Mrs. Wingfield was the April 12, 1953 issue The Lynchburg NEWS, which featured an illustrated story, well over a full page, of the life and service of the late Dr. Frank H. Lukin, of Pamplin. Dr. Lukin was 80 at the time of this feature, written by Fred Menagh, NEWS feature writer. (I remember Menagh well, for he once did a feature, with a full page of pictures, about Father Darkleaf and Brightleaf.)He wrote "Hundreds of families in Appomattox, Prince Edward and Charlotte Counties revere the name of Dr. Frank H. Lukin, 80-year-old physician-apotheeary of Pamplin." He added "during the past 50 years he has ministered to their medical needs. He has counseled them in time of trouble and sorrow. And he has brought more than 2,000 of their babies into the world." His fee of fifty cents became famous. He hung out his shingle in 1903, having graduated from Medical College of Virginia, Richmond, just before the turn of the century. His internship was at a Winston-Salem, N.C. hospital and his first practice inKentucky. He heard of a need of a doctor in Pamplin, population 400. He acquired his first automobile, a Model T, in 1913. Before that he rode horseback. He liked spirited horses. His wife, the former Allie Thornton, knew his favorite food, stewed apples. And I recall Dr. Lukin as a great baseball fan. Seldom missed a home game of the Appomattox Green Sox. What a man! Successful doctor and successful druggist. Others pictured in the feature, mostly in Dr. Lukin's patient's chair, included S. T. Thurman, Mrs. Jack Williams, R. W. Covington, Jack Price, C.H. Buckles, Mattie Thornton, Mrs. Woodrow Williams, Lewis Carwell, Mrs. Osie Southall, and son, Wiley. Thanks for the memory, thanks for the gift of this old paper, and thanks to you for reading. Seeya.
